

Active Participation

Active participation can include such things as participating in making management decisions. It can also be arranging for others to provide services (such as repairs) in a significant and bona fide sense.

To be considered as actively participating, your interest (including your spouse's interest) in the rental activity must be at least 10% (by value) of all interests in the activity throughout all of 2018.